Since being wounded Maj. Elliott has been promoted to lieutenant colonel and has been commended for bravery on the battlefield.

At the time he was wounded Maj. Elliott was giving orders to three officers under him and all three were killed and he was wounded.

KAISER TO REMAIN

Official Agency Declares Hun Ruler Will Not Abdicate

Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 15.—The Wolff News Agency of Berlin yesterday issued an official denial of the report which had become current in Germany that Emperor William intended to abdicate.

London, Oct. 15.—The resignation of Prince Maximilian of Baden as German Imperial Chancellor is probable, according to reports from Holland today. They quote the Berlin National Zeitung as saying the Chancellor's retirement is regarded in certain circles as inevitable.

WILSON SENDS REPLY

Unconditional Surrender and Deposition of Hohenzollerns Must Precede Peace.

The following is the complete text of President Wilson's note in reply to Germany's latest peace movement:

From the Secretary of State to the Charge d'Affaires of Switzerland, ad interim, in charge of German interests in the United States.

Department of State,
October 14, 1018

Sir:

In reply to the communication of the German government, dated the 12th instant, which you handed me today, I have the honor to request you to transmit the following answer:

"The unqualified acceptance by the present German government and by a large majority of the German Reichstag of the terms laid down by the President of the United States of America in his address to the Congress of the United States on the eighth of January, 1918, and in his subsequent addresses justifies the President in making a frank and direct statement of his decision with regard to the communications of the German government of the eighth and twelfth of October, 1918.

"It must be clearly understood that the process of evacuation and the conditions of an armistice are matters which must be left to the judgment and advice of the military advisers of the government of the United States and the allied governments, and the President feels it his duty to say no arrangement can be accepted by the government of the United States which does not provide absolutely satisfactory safeguards and guarantees of the maintenance of the present military supremacy of the armies of the United States and of the allies in the field. He feels confident that he can safely assume that this will also be the judgment and decision of the allied governments.

"The President feels that it is also his duty to add that neither the government of the United States nor, he is quite sure, the governments with which the government of the United States is associated as a belligerent will consent to consider an armistice so long as the armed forces of Germany continue the illegal and inhumane practices which they still persist in. At the very time that the German government approaches the government of the United States with proposals of peace its submarines are engaged in sinking passenger ships at sea, and not the ship alone but the very boat in which their passengers and crews seek to make their way to safety; and in their present inforced withdrawal from Flanders and France the German armies are pursuing a course of wanton destruction which has always been regarded as in direct violation of the rules and practices of civilized warfare. Cities and villages if not destroyed, are being stripped of all they contain not only but often of their very inhabitants. The nations associated against Germany cannot be expected to agree to a cessation of arms while acts of inhumanity, spoliation and desolation are being continued which they justly look upon with horror and with burning hearts.

"It is necessary, also in order that there may be no possibility of misunderstanding, that the President should very solemnly call the attention of the Government of Germany to the language and plain intent of one of the terms of peace which the German government has now accepted. It is contained in the address of the President delivered at Mount Vernon on the Fourth of July last. It is as follows: 'The destruction of every arbitrary power anywhere that can separately secretly and of its single choice disturb the peace of the world; or, if it cannot be presently destroyed, at least its reduction to virtual impotency.' The power which has hitherto controlled the German nation is of the sort here described. It is within the choice of the German nation to alter it. The President's words just quoted naturally constitute a condition precedent to peace, if peace is to come by the action of the German people themselves. The President feels bound to say that the whole process of peace will, in his judgment, depend upon the definiteness and the satisfactory character of the guarantees which can be given in this fundamental matter. It is indispensable that the governments associated against Germany should know beyond a peradventure with whom they are dealing.

"The President will make a separate reply to the royal and imperial government of Austria-Hungary."

Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my high consideration.

(Signed) ROBERT LANSING.

Mr. Frederick Oederlin,
Charge d'Affaires of Switzerland, ad interim, in charge of German interests in the United States.

PAGE MUCH IMPROVED

New York, Oct. 15.—Walter Hines Page, former American ambassador to the Court of St. James, who arrived in this country Saturday seriously ill suffering from heart disease is much improved.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING

Influenza on Decrease and it is Believed Epidemic Has Run its Course—Death Rate Greatly Reduced.

Reports today indicate that both influenza and pneumonia are on the wane and medical authorities are of the opinion that the epidemic has about spent itself.

During the past twenty-four hours the death rate has decreased about sixty per cent. There were only four deaths in the city during that period, most of whom were children.

The energetic steps taken by the authorities here and especially by the committee of citizens and women of the Red Cross to alleviate the sufferings of those unable to secure the services of physicians or nurses has greatly aided in retarding the progress of the disease.

Officials of the Virginia shipbuilding Corporation also deserve much praise for the great assistance they have given in the work. However, the Red Cross women should not be overlooked for their splendid work.

This news should be gratifying to every citizen of Alexandria as for a time conditions here were extremely bad.

ARE NEARING THE GOAL

Sale of Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds Now in Excess of $500,000.—All Urged to Buy at Once in Order to Make Good Showing For City.

This city has nearly reached its goal in the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Bonds in excess of $500,000 had been sold up to noon today according to an announcement made by Leo. P. Harrow, chairman of the local committee. The allotment for this city is $621,300. That Alexandria will pass the mark and go "over the top" before Saturday is the opinion of members of the committee.

The local committee, however, urges every citizen to purchase bonds as soon as possible in order that Alexandria may come out with colors flying.

It is the desire of the committee that all persons who intend to purchase bonds should apply at any banking house at once. They should not put it off until the last day—Saturday. If every person in the city who can afford to purchase a bond does so Alexandria should almost double her quota.

YAQUIS MAY SOON SURRENDER VILLA

Pancho Villa, one-time objective of General Pershing, may soon be in the hands of the Mexican Federal authorities.

Authoritative information from Mexico City told of the impending surrender of the Yaqui Indians, who have provided the backbone of the bandit leader's raiding and defensive forces for the past two years.

The Yaquis have caused more or less trouble for the Mexican Federal government almost continuously for several years. They took a prominent part in Villa's campaign of 1916 and since then have operated in the mountainous regions of Sonora and have carefully looked to Villa's personal safety.

Their activities as late as a few months ago caused anxiety on the Sonora-Arizona frontier. The death of Chief Matus in a recent skirmish with the Federals is believed to have contributed to the desire of the Yaquis for peace.

ALLIES STILL ADVANCE

Movement Designed to Cut off Germans From Their Last Anchor, Lille.

Paris, Oct. 15.—French troops have taken Barenton Cel, six miles north of Loan, and have crossed the Aisne river west of Grandpre, in the Champagne, seizing the towns of Olizy and Terres.

London, Oct. 15.—Attacked by land, sea and air, the Germans in Flanders have been thrown back more than six miles on a front of about thirty-five miles.

Belgians, British and French participated in the assault, which began yesterday morning between Dixmude and Wervicq. More than 10,000 prisoners already have been taken.

London, Oct. 15.—With Laon, the southern pivot of the German Western line, in his hands, Foch began yesterday a wide outflanking movement on the northern end of the far-flung front, designed to cut the foe from his last anchor, Lille.

British, Belgian and French troops attacked on a wide front and made progress everywhere, Details are still lacking at this hour, and Field Marshal Haig's night statement sheds light on what happened on the first day of this new drive.

Unofficial reports late last night however, show the British hammered their way forward to the gates of two vital strategic rail-heads: Thorout and Courtrai. The latter lies fifteen miles northeast of Lille, the former only ten and a half miles southwest of Bruges. The new offensive, therefore, not only has already made sufficient progress to render Lille virtually untenable, but is in a fair way toward putting a definite end to the U-boat piracy off the Flanders coast. Ostend one of the bases, is in imminent danger of being outflanked. The British last night stand at Cortemarck, a little more than fifteen miles slightly southeast of Ostend. British warships with their powerful naval guns aided the drive by day by hammering the German coast defenses.

Both Ostend and Zeebrugge are believed to have been evacuated as actual bases some weeks ago, but untold quantities of material are still there; it would take many weeks to remove them completely, and the Germans have no time to see to that.

Cortemarck lies only three and a half miles southwest of Thorout, and is on the Dixmude-Bruges Railway.

Roulers, which was captured by the Belgians in their recent drive, but had to be abandoned later, is now firmly held by the allies. This town is an important rail junction 12 miles northeast of Ypres. A direct rail runs through it via Thorout to Ostend, with a northeastern branch to Bruges and Zeebrugge.

From east of Roulers, the British line runs to a mile east of Inkel-St.-Eloi, which lies less than five miles northwest of Courtrai and thence to Moorseels a little less than four miles west of Courtrai, to in front of Menin, another important rail town.

The first explosion, said to have originated in the chemical plant, was followed by several others, which set fire to several of the buildings. Large stores of T. N. T. were endangered by the fire.

DRAFT SLACKERS HIDE IN MEXICO

Eagle Pass, Tex, Oct. 15—Notwithstanding the vigilance of American river guards, State rangers, and other officers in preventing draft evaders from entering Mexico, it is known that several thousand of these slackers were successful in eluding the watchful eyes of the guardians of the border and are now in Mexico.

For several days immediately preceding registration day men who were seeking to evade military duty poured into the different border towns. In most cases they found the Rio Grande too well guarded for them to get into Mexico; in a great many other cases they were provided with passports which had to be recognized by the authorities.

PREVALENCE OF THE GRIP.

While there is said to be a decrease in the number of cases of grip and pneumonia in Alexandria, conditions are nevertheless serious and of a nature to cause apprehension. People are still being prostrated and some are dying. It is, however, believed by those having the epidemic in charge that it has passed its crest and that a more rapid decrease in cases and deaths will soon follow.

Alexandria's experience during the past few weeks has been more serious than at any other time in its history. Most of the victims of the scourge have been comparatively young people, or those under forty years of age.

There has been much to add to our ordinary anxieties of late. The city physicians have been overworked and some of them have been prostrated by the scourge. The druggists have been on their feet for many hours at a time and undertakers have been kept steadily on the go. The ministers of the gospel have had all they could do to minister unto the sick and conduct funerals.

To add to the general distress it was stated today that the supply of drugs used in cases of grip was running low.

Our city, however, has not been called upon to suffer any more severely than other places in the commonwealth. The flu has spread in every direction and many have died in our state. In some places conditions have been much more serious than those in Alexandria.

The angel of death, however, is still intruding himself into our homes cutting down members of families here and there, although his visits show a diminution.

In this terrible visitation the saying "The young may, the old must." seems to be reversed. As stated above, most of those who have fallen under the strokes of the grim reaper are young people.

We can only await a time with patience when normal conditions shall have returned and the doleful rumble of the hearse becomes less frequent.

THE PRESIDENT'S ANSWER

This is a liberty world,
And there is naught that can be
Of glory and sweet and truth
That is not made free.
We are but breakers of bonds,
And ages and ages still
We shall strive at the forge of dreams
And the anvil of will
To set some holy desire
At liberty out of its chains—
For only in hearts of the free
True happiness reigns,
And only the free can be wise
And only the free be strong
As under the sun and the rains
They float unto song.

—Exchange.

President Wilson has flatly and finally rejected the peace overtures of the German Chancellor. He has announced to Germany and to the world that no peace can be made with the Hohenzollern regime, and that not even a truce in the fighting will be considered as long as the "armed forces of Germany continue the illegal and inhuman practices which they still persist in."

This decision was reached by the President within a few hours from the time the official text of the second German note was laid before him, a note which, on its face, accepted every demand which the President had voiced, but which in reality was a colossal hoax conceived in the desperate hope of saving to the German Emperor his throne.

The President's answer leaves the door open, to use the familiar metaphor. It leaves the door open to the German people if, they will kick out the Kaiser, cease their atrocities and then accept such terms as the Allied Governments will grant. It invites peace, but only on those conditions. The German people know the terms upon which they can have peace. If they elect to continue the war longer they will pay the penalty.

A terrible significance is given to it by the statement given out coincidently at the White House that this nation will continue to send 250,000 soldiers to Europe monthly.

The President in his decision has ended all danger of further peace offensives from Germany, in so far as they might affect the morale of the United States and our allies. He has put the matter squarely up to the enemy. If it comes back with counter proposals they will be rejected.

As one official explained the President's note:

"It is not a reply. It is his decision. That is the end of it."

HUN CRUELTY.

Burning and blowing up Cambrai and other towns from which the Germans are obliged to retreat, sinking of passenger steamers, shelling of lifeboats, and drowning women and children at the very moment when they are asking an armistice and proposing to talk peace, would be incredible if the Germans had not done so many incredible things since the beginning of this war. What sort of minds have the men who govern Germany, to use the torch and explosives on the territory from which the Americans, British and French drive them, at the same time that they are asking the President "to take in hand the restoration of peace?"

There is a growing demand among our European Allies, as well as among ourselves that justice shall be done on individual Germans. As an exchange says, no one supposes that William II will be left on the German throne, and the Kaiser is quite right if he believes the Crown Prince to be more obnoxious to the Allies than he is.

To the sound of the cannon in this last and tremendous drive rises the voice of the whole civilized world, demanding that the German officers responsible for the outrages and the crimes and the bestiality committed in Belgium and France shall be put to death.

The Allies will have sufficient means to compel Germany to pay the bills and surrender at least a representative portion of the grosser criminals. German armies occupied France till the last of the indemnity was paid. Whether peace is made at the Rhine or at Potsdam, Allied troops will occupy Germany till the restoration is paid for and an example is made upon the gallows of the most brutal of the military commanders.

WHAT THE KAISER CAN DO

Rumors that the Kaiser has abdicated, or has decided to abdicate, may have no other foundation than the obvious necessity of that course. But even so, the rumors are of some significance, and they may have more substantial foundation.

One can hardly imagine the Kaiser after this war living in Potsdam, driving through Berlin, hunting in the Black Forest and going to Wilhelmshaven to board his yacht for a cruise preaching to the crews on Sundays. The Allies are quite likely to determine his place of residence; but if he and an armistice should not be allowed which would convert a disastrous defeat and perhaps a wholesale surrender of the German armies on the battle field into a leisurely and safe guaranteed retreat, for that would enable the new race of militarists to claim that they had led Germany not to defeat but to victory.

they left him alone one can hardly imagine his resumption of his ordinary manner of life among the subjects millions of whose relations he has done to death in a mad quest for a greater empire.

But besides this, there is, what may have been generally overlooked, the demand of the President made on several occasions for his abdication. In his address of January 8 the President said:

"Neither do we presume to suggest to her (Germany) any alteration or modification of her institutions. But it is necessary, we must frankly say, and necessary as a preliminary to any intelligent dealings with her on our part, that we should know whom her spokesmen speak for when they speak to us, whether for the Reichstag majority, or for the military party and the men whose creed is imperial domination."

Here is a plain intimation from the President that we will not make peace with the Kaiser. Mr. Lloyd George said in his Glasgow speech in June, 1917, that the Allies would be more likely to accept the peace engagements of the representatives of the people than of the Kaiser. In his speech of September 27 the President said: "The German people must by this time be fully aware that we cannot accept the word of those who forced this war upon us." And in his note of October 8 the President asked "whether the Imperial Chancellor is speaking merely for the constituted authorities of the Empire who have so far conducted the war."

What are these but demands that the Kaiser shall remove himself and leave the Allies to deal with the Reichstag or with a popular convention, whose action might be assumed to be that of the German people?—Philadelphia Record.

NO ARMISTICE IN SIGHT

Distrust of Hun's Good Faith Dominant in England.

London, Oct. 15.—It is learned in authoritative quarters, says Reuter's, Limited, that there is no prospect of an early amistice as the result of Germany's overtures.

Further, it is stated, when the time is ripe for considering the question, an armistice will not be granted or even considered without the accompanying naval and military guarantees that Germany is not merely ready to sheathe the sword, but is absolutely powerless to resume nostilities.

The London newspapers are publishing numerous interviews with leading men of all classes of publication life on the German reply to President Wilson. The dominant note throughout these is distrust of Germany's good faith, with a belief that she is intent only on saving her armies from inevitable destruction and robbing the Allies of the fruits of victory.

General approval is expressed of the reserved manner in which the reply has been received by the public at large among which the news of the proposed armistice evoked feelings not of rejoicing but of anxiety lest anything be done which would jeopardize a just recompense for the terrible sacrifices made. Nowhere has there been any flying of flags nor has there been any ringing of bells.

Public feeling on the subject has been especially affected by the sinking of the Leinster, Thus T. P. O'Connor speaking at Whitefield's Tabernacl yesterday declared it was impossible to approach the subject of peace with a cool mind in view of the horror and rage excited in every Irishman's and every Englishman's mind by the wholesale murder of women and children and other innocent civilians in the sinking of the Leinster.

The Allies, he declared, must apply to Germany that force and those terms which alone would guarantee the world from a repetition of her crimes against

TURKEY SEEKS PEACE.

Owing to Military Situation Pasha Forced to Come to Terms With Entente.

Amsterdam, Oct. 15.—The first step taken by the new Turkish Cabinet, headed by Tewfik Pasha, says a dispatch from Vienna under date of Sunday to the Weser Zeitung, was to dispatch a note to Austria-Hungary to the effect that owing to the military situation Turkey was obliged to conclude a separate peace with the Entente.

The Central Powers requested Turkey to await the result of the exchange of notes with President Wilson, but no reply so far has been received from Turkey.

HOW TO DOCTOR "FLU" AT HOME

State Health Board Tells What to do When Physician's Aid Cannot Be Had.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 15.—The State Board of Health urgently recommends that gauze masks be used by all persons caring for or compelled to visit those sick with influenza. Unnecessary visiting should be avoided.

All persons are called upon to help in the present emergency not only by assisting in the care of the sick but also by spreading information as to the common-sense preventive measures. Avoidance of common drinking cups and care not to put in the mouth objects soiled with the secretions from the mouths of other persons will decrease the spread of the disease. The poison of influenza is conveyed chiefly by the spray thrown out in front of the face when one coughs or sneezes, therefore, cover the mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze.

Spanish influenza is characterized by a suddenonset usually in from twelve to forty-eight hours after exposure; by a chill or chilly sensation; a slight sore throat, stufiness about the head; loss of appetite; occasional nausea; rise of temperature and marked weakness.

Since there is much poisoning in this disease, it is a matter of primary importance that the strength be saved by promptly going to bed and remaining there long enough for the heart and other vital organs to recover from the effect of this poisoning. This means from two to six days according to the severity of the case.

As it is impossible for physicians to see all of the cases, it is most important that people undertand something of the nature of this disease and of the proper care of its victims. In many instances patients are getting along well by simply remaining in bed, taking a laxative, drinking an abundance of water and keeping quiet. There is no known drug cure for influenza and great danger attends the promiscuous use of depressing drugs.

Surgeon General Blue of the United States Public Health Service says:

"The present generation has been spoiled by having expert medical and nursing care readily available. While I cheerfully recognize all the good that has been done by our splendidly trained graduate nurses, I believe that the public has come to rely too much upon their services and has not interested itself sufficiently in studying the home care of the sick. Every person who feels sick and appears to be developing an attack of influenza should be put to bed at once in a well ventilated room. If the patient has fever a physician should be called and this should be done in any case if the patient appears very sick, coughs up a pinkish sputum, or breathes rapidly or painfully."

NO BETTER IN LYNCHBURG.

City Has Had Nearly 100 Deaths From "Flu."

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 15.—The number of deaths here from influenza and pneumonia total nearly 100 and there is no diminution of the fatalities, which have averaged more than 10 a day for more than a week. All three of the local hospitals are crowded and hundreds of patients cannot be admitted.

Mayor Jester has issued a proclamation forbidding people from stopping on the streets to talk, and the police have positive orders to break up loitering on the streets. Physicians are given the right of way in the streets over every form of traffic, and the police department has been instructed to permit physicians to exceed the speed limit without regard for the city ordinances.

Six or eight physicians are sick. The health department is making strenuous efforts to secure vaccine from the Public Health Service at Washington.

WILSON AND LIBERTY LOAN

Must Be Successful; Don't Relax Because of German Note, says Executive.

The White House,
Oct. 14, 1918.

The reply of the German government to my note of inquiry dated October 8 gives occasion for me to say to my fellow countrymen that neither that reply nor any other recent events have in any way diminished the vital importance of the liberty loan. Relaxation now, hesitation now, would mean defeat when victory seems to be in sight; would mean years of war instead of peace upon our own terms.

I earnestly request every patriotic American to leave to the governments of the United States and of the allies the momentous discussions initiated by Germany and to remember that for each man his duty is to strengthen the hands of these governments and to do it in the most important way now immediately presented—by subscribing to the utmost of his ability for bonds of the fourth liberty loan. That loan must be successful. I am sure that the American people will not fail to see their duty and make it successful.

THE FLU IN VIRGINIA

State Health Board Has Staggering Figures as to Epidemic Ravages in Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 15.—So far as the state at large is concerned, the situation growing out of the spread of Spanish influenza is far from encouraging and in some sections conditions are truly distressing. Up to Sunday, a total of 60,000 cases had been reported to the State Board of Health while it was estimated that the total in the entire commonwealth could hardly be less than 200,000.

No section is being spared and the disease within the last day or so has made its appearance in counties which seemingly had escaped it. It is raging in the southeaster nsection of Virginia and perhaps is giving even more trouble in Southwest Virginia. The northern and eastern sections also are beginning to suffer from the malady and it has likewise reached the Eastern Shore.

Forty different places have asked the State Board of Health for doctors and in thirty-five instances these calls have been favorably answered. This has been accomplished by using the third and fourth year classes of the medical colleges of Richmond and the University. The students are reported to be doing excellent work and without their aid the crisis could hardly be met. Second year medical students have also been used to good advantage as attendants. Help has likewise been given by Surgeon General Blue who has supplied seven physicians from the U. S. Public Health Service.

Calls for nurses have come from fifty different places. Some communities have asked for as many as ten while others say they will be satisfied to have only one. In several rural sections the country people have become so alarmed that they decline to nurse those who are sick of the influenza.

Substantial aid came to the State Board of Health Sunday when Miss Ella Agnew, chief of the home economics division of the extension work of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, tendered the use of her county agents many of whom have had experience in nursing. Some have already been assigned to fields where their services will be particularly valuable.

Every possible effort is being put forth by the State Board of Health to aid the stricken districts, and it has found a most useful ally in the State Council of Defense. A long stride in the way of checking the malady will have been taken before the end of this week when relief trains will be set moving in several sections of Virginia in ordr that the sick may be carried to the improvised hospitals established in school houses at centrally located points.

185 DEATHS IN RICHMOND

Health Officers Believe Epidemic Has Reached its Height.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 15.Dr. Roy K Flannagan, chief health officer of Richmond, said yesterday that in his opinion, the crest of the Spanish influenza epidemic had been reached here It is estimated that there are 12,000 cases reported and unreported, in the city.

Dr. Flanagan said, however, that the negro population of the city, which has all along been strangely immune, was beginning to suffer.

A summary of the situation in Richmond late yesterday was as follows:

Total cases reported, 4,672; deaths to date, 185; new cases overnight, 127; deaths overnight, 33.
